DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:
 - a.) The status of the parent application cited on page 1 of the specification needs to be updated.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is vague. In line 7, the recitation of "the active molecular recognition surfaces" lacks antecedent support.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

4. Claim 1 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-36 of U.S. Patent No. 6,060,327. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because patent '327 claims a sensor with essentially the same limitations as the instantly claimed sensor.

Patent '327 claims a sensor for sensing the presence of an analyte component which does not rely on redox mediators comprising a plurality of conductive polymer strands each having at least a first end and a second end and each aligned in a non random orientation; a plurality of molecular recognition headgroups having an affinity for said analyte; and an electrode substrate attached to said conductive polymer strands at said second ends that reports to an electronic circuit reception of mobile charge carriers from said conductive polymer strands when the presence of said analyte is sensed.

5. Claim 1 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-10 and 21 of U.S. Patent No. 6,699,667. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because patent '667 claims a sensor with essentially the same limitations as the instantly claimed sensor.

Patent '667 claims a sensor for sensing the presence of an analyte which does not rely on redox mediators comprising a substrate that reports reception of mobile charge carriers to an electronic circuit; and a plurality of active molecule recognition headgroup surfaces hard wired to a surface of the substrate by molecular wires aligned in a non random orientation.
